Manager's comments

- The Asia Pacific ex-Japan region rose over the month but underperformed global equity markets.
- Markets were driven higher by the return of risk appetite as concerns about sovereign creditworthiness subsided.
- Australia, Taiwan and Singapore outperformed, while China, India and the Philippines lagged.
- Performance was boosted by LG Corp (South Korea: Industrials) which benefited from the strong share price performance of its subsidiaries.
- Newcrest Mining (Australia: Materials) declined with the gold price.
- We bought Tao Heung, a Chinese restaurant chain operator in Hong Kong with a strong franchise.
- We sold Bharti Airtel (India: Telecom Services) because of intensifying competitive pressures and concerns about the price paid for its African venture.
- We remain conservatively positioned and maintain a large position in a gold miner Newcrest Mining as a hedge against further loose monetary policy.
- Asian consumer companies, perceived to be offering a defensive growth profile, have become a little too fashionable with investors.

Important Information / Risk Factors:

Past performance is not a guide to future performance, and investment markets and conditions can change rapidly. If your fund invests in equity markets, it will be more volatile than an investment in cash or fixed deposits. The value of your investment may go down as well as up. There is no guarantee you will get back the amount invested. If your fund invests in overseas markets, currency movements may affect both the income received and the capital value of your investment. If it invests in the shares of small companies, in emerging markets, or in a single country or sector, it may be less liquid and more volatile than a broadly diversified fund investing in developed equity markets. This fund should be considered a long-term investment. You should read the fund's Prospectus before investing, including in particular the sections on the risk factors applicable to any investment. The views expressed herein should not be relied upon when making investment decisions.
